

6) Jeff says that "small choices you make now can have powerful, positive impacts down the road." What is a small choice you can make now or in the near future to positively impact your personal finances years from now?

7) Professionals rarely follow a linear career path. How did Jeff's career in journalism lead to a role in the financial sector?

8) Developing and expanding your skill set throughout your life can give you lots of advantages in the job market. There's no question here; this is great advice!

9) Jeff learned to take a percentage of his income to "pay himself first." Why is this an effective personal finance strategy?

Follow up:

- If you haven't learned about RRSPs and TFSAs, take some time to do some research on the advantages of these savings options.
- Jeff points out that compound interest can be positive and negative. How is this true?

